All 12 Republican Candidates Remain in Race for Congress

The strategy of the New Trier Township Republicans did not work.

The township has as the record field of 12 GOP candidates running in the special election in the 13th district held in the U.S. Congress vacated by Donald Rumsfeld who has become director of the OEO.

Banker Trades Portfolios For Flight Suit, Helmet

Investment banking and precision jet flying may be far apart culturally, but they are close together in the life of Terry J. Denton of Arlington Heights.

Weekdays the quiet 36-year-old spends his time with stock portfolios in the trust investment division of Centinella National Bank and Trust Co.

On weekends he makes a dash to flight suit and helmet and performs daring, high-speed maneuvers with the Air Baron, a Navy Reserve precision jet flying demonstration team based at Glenview Naval Air Station.

A reserve commander, Denton joined the six member Air Baron team several years ago. He participated with them in Reading, Pa., air show, and is scheduled to appear with them in Chicago later this month and at the Toronto Air Show in late August.

A veteran of 12 years of jet flying, Denton said he doesn't regard his double career as anything very unusual.

"I just enjoy flying and banking, and I'm glad for the opportunity to do both," he said.

He and his fellow team members are all experienced, combat-ready pilots especially selected for their superior flying.

Department Cites Seven Policemen

L. W. Calderwood, Village of Arlington Heights police chief, announced in a monthly report for June that seven men have received commendations for their work in the police department.

Five other men have attended universities or courses in police work, one was appointed a public service officer and two new cadets were added to the department.

Irvin McDougall with Parametris Louis Kohler, Otto Schuster, Ronald McCarty, Ronald Sum and James Browne received commendations for apprehending five persons who are accused of a burglary of the medical center at 1430 N. Arlington Heights Rd. in doing so the lieutenant and five officers worked with the co-operation of citizens and the Mount Prospect police.

Prospect Heights Library Seeking Site for Building

By Neil Clarke

The Prospect Heights Library has a problem but it hasn't been able to find the solution.

Its board has a goal-16 acres of land as a site for a new library at the price it can afford, about $15,000. The problem is where to find an acceptable site at the price desired.

As a matter of fact, vacant acreage of this size near the Prospect Heights shopping center and Illinois 83 is hard to come by.

Mrs. Robert Lusk, board chairman, said that the board would like to locate the library within a half-mile of the shopping center for convenience to the community.

The library board has $15,000 from the Prospect

Heights Woman's Club, long a strong backer of the library, but the only lot for sale that could be located within the half-mile radius was one-half acre parcel priced at $20,000.

"We would welcome any community-spirited person who was willing to help us in any way possible," said Mrs. Lusk. She said that it had to be a location accessible to subways and the shopping section.

But it just isn't there, she stated, she added.

The library now is crammed into a 25-foot wide, single story, store front location at the shopping center, with about 9,000 volumes in the adult department and a children's department of 6,000 books plus a magazine section. The rent is $250 a month.

"WE WOULD like to get into more spacious quarters," Mrs. Lusk said. "We have concentrated on the children's section and would like to enlarge the other section."

"We want to give our people adequate service."

She said that service was the best possible under current circumstances. Under a recent state law a library district may have a rate of $1.12 per $100 of assessed value.

The Prospect Heights Library District now stands at a rate of $0.08 per $100, (1968).

"I doubt if we will go to the maximum, this year, (1969).

If the lot was obtained, the size of the facility desired and the means of obtaining necessary funds is yet another matter. The possibility of future aid is remote, Mrs. Lusk said.

Plans for the building involve financing through a bond issue referendum, John Haas, attorney for the library board, said the building is necessary is based on a "trial of them" from the North Suburban Library System.

This calls for eighteenth century feet of area for each person in the district, about 10,000 population.

As of last year, Hag said, the cost of such a building was estimated at $125,000 to $140,000. He said that with the steadily-increasing costs of construction, a referendum of $150,000 was indicated.

Alinski Dampens 'Revolution' Rumor

By Barbara Valmar
Residents of the Northwest Suburbs can relax. The suburban revolution will not start here.
Saul Alinski, nationally known advocate of unorthodox demonstrations to dramatize issues, assured The Day an exclusive interview that he only goes into areas that request his assistance. He would organize the "suburban middle class" only if invited.
The rumor of the "revolution" began about two months ago when the Rev. David Koehn, a Presbyterian minister, began questioning residents of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Des Plaines about what he would "organize" them to fight the "power structure."

The Rev. Mr. Koehn is a student of the Industrial Areas Foundation, Inc., Chicago, headed by Alinski. The institute was started as a training school for "organizers" in February of this year.
Many area residents questioned by the Rev. Mr. Koehn were recent unsuccessful candidates for public office. Others interviewed had spoken out against various issues.
"Organized revolution" must start with those who are willing to "stirle" out, they feel wronged, the Rev. Mr. Koehn told them.

ALINSKI SAID that the Rev. Mr. Koehn was from San

Voluntary Separation, No Divorce

Voluntary agreements appear to be the rule among those husbands and wives who agree to live apart without getting a divorce, according to the Illinois State Bar Association.

The ISBA said that in one recent month, the state's highest family court issued only six separate maintenance decrees compared to 1,729 divorce decrees or only one separate maintenance decree for every 300 divorces.

This does not mean that practically all couples who decide to call it quits get a divorce, according to the ISBA, which said it indicates that only a few lawsuits and when who choose to stay married but live apart keep their agreement on a formal, court-ordered basis.

PEOPLE WHO bid to go to court to obtain a separate maintenance decree have to avoid stating their differences in public or have communications to either divorce or separation or they may hope for a reconciliation after a "trial" separation, another reason, the ISBA stated.

However, the ISBA added, there are certain advantages to obtaining a formal decree for separate maintenance, if one spouse dependent upon the other or become disabled. It gives the case of a wife who intended to support herself but became ill. Ultimately, she had to file suit for separate maintenance in order to force her husband to help pay dental and medical bills.

THE PROCEDURE for filing a suit for separate maintenance is the same as a divorce suit. Ordinarily, such a suit is filed where the spouse who is being sued (the defendant) resides. In fixing the amount of support payments, the court will consider the standard of living when the couple were together and other factors. Also, the court may grant temporary support to the plaintiff and may require the defendant to pay the plaintiff's attorney's fees.

At the time of divorce, the court has the jurisdiction over any minor children and may award custody to either parent or to a third party if the court feels that is in the best interest of the children.

If a reconciliation is attempted while a separate maintenance decree is pending, the court should be advised to that it may suspend the proceeding. Otherwise, the reconciliation could be considered as a withdrawal of any prior misconduct of the spouse being sued, the suit for separate maintenance would be jeopardized if the reconciliation didn't work out.

Have fun

Or at least comfort. And no worries. That's what you'll be looking for when you return. But to find it, you'll need dollars—more than Social Security will provide. No problem if you're a person. But suppose you're self-employed? Still no problem—just take advantage of recent changes in income tax rates. They give you a deduction of up to $2500 a year of net income invested in an approved retirement plan. When I have several such plans, when can I explain them to you?

"Yes, I think we can sell it," Sweeney said, "but we go back to this question of compatible use."

Marathon claims the car wash would be compatible both with the service station and the surrounding area.

To receive the land use variation, Marathon must prove to the satisfaction of the Village Board that it will suffer hardship if the variation is denied.

The matter had been continuing until last night so that Marathon could find out what future plans the State of Wis-

Blossoms To Save For Frosty Days

By Frances Aljama

One of the most striking bouquets to brighten the long winter days can be made of dried flowers, their natural beauty preserved through the use of silica gel.

Preserving gerbera and wild flowers is relatively simple, explains Mrs. James Grubb, who each summer dries a variety of new blooms to place them that have faded during the winter. All that is required is a container of silica gel. Dixie Grubb prefers the five-pound cans of "Flower-Chit" made by Flan-tabs and available at Kelson Nursery in several sizes. The larger container provides enough space to dry the larger flowers as well as foliage and stems.

FIRST PICK the flowers when they are not damp. Mrs. Grubb has found the late morning to be ideal and says that marigolds, peonies, lilies, delphiniums, anemones, roses, penstems, and other flowers are good. Such flowers are dried in their coloring best. Such flowers are dried in their coloring best. Such flowers are dried in their coloring best.

"Include an assortment of both through mature blooms," said Dixie, "for a more complete and pleasing appearance."

Next carefully bury the flowers as well as their foliage upright to give them a more natural look. Drying generally takes 2 to 3 days, depending upon the bulk and moisture content of the flowers.

Lighter colors, the yellows, pinks and particularly roses, seem to dry better, Dixie said. Deep reds darken appreciably, but if such color is desired, fine.

After two or three days carefully remove the flowers and place them in an airtight container with a desiccant or two of the silica gel.

"Summer humidity is death to the arrangements. Thus they are lovely of planned obsolescence," Dixie said.

IN ADDITION to drying flowers in arrangements, they can be dried flat with a light covering of the silica gel over them and weighted down by heavy books. These may be used in pictures.

Mrs. Grubb usually mounts her on velvet. If cones or oval frames are used, the flowers will have more dimension and need not be pressed perfectly flat. There are shadow box frames also available which give a handsome effect.

Dried blooms may be used in paper weights or glass containers which contain silica gel to enclose the flowers. Flower names or words of sentiment are readily available at variety or hardware stores.

In the fall the flowers should be carefully uprooted. Dixie Grubb stores them in plastic shoe boxes, sealed with masking tape to keep them fresh. By adding floral wire to the stems and wrapping the wire with floral tape, the dried arrangement is complete.

Usually these blooms, when placed to the humidity, will last about a year. However, the ones under glass keep very well for much longer periods.

IN ADDITION to winter bouquets, an extraordinary gift is preserved flowers in wedding, anniversaries, graduations or prom.

Mrs. Grubb plans, along one last reminder which the beginner may overlook. The silica gel is continuously reusable. The blue crystals in the silica gel will turn to pink when there is too much moisture for preserving color at their best. When this occurs, merely dry the crystals in a warm oven until the blue color returns.

Bright orange and yellow marigolds (at left) were dried upright. They repeat identical status in the water color, also painted by Dixie Grubb. Four-shaped daisy contains dried petals, marigolds and foliage.

Mrs. James Grubb puts finishing touches to a bouquet of long-stemmed dried flowers. In addition to making winter bouquets, flowers from weddings, anniversaries, proms and graduations can be preserved in this way. (Photos by Frances Aljama)

DOCTOR SAYS

Baby Needs Cooling Off On Hot Summer Days

W. C. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

During the hot summer days when you are trying to keep cool don't forget that it is important to keep your baby cool, too. If you don't, your baby is outdoors in the sun and heat, what could be his complaint to you in words but he probably best should give you the message: This can make him very fretful.

Heat rash is best prevented by not overcovering him and by mopping up his perspiration, especially on his neck and other skin areas.

A TEPID bath two or three times a day, followed by a cool bath with cornstarch or a heat rash powder helps to prevent or cure prickly heat. Or you may add the affected areas with a solution of one teaspoon of baking soda in a cup of water.

When the room temperature is 85° or more your baby doesn't need to wear anything but a diaper. Some babies, however, are more comfortable on a hot day if they also wear a light undershirt.

Lower him the safety of waterproof pants whenever possible. If such pants cause a diaper rash, you should leave off his diaper for a few hours during the day. Air and a small dose of sunlight will keep cool don't forget that it is important to keep your baby cool, too. If you work for nothing, fulltime, you belong to an exclusive group. You are also part of big business. In fact, you ARE big business.

The group to which you belong is a big army of people. According to the figures released by the Department of Labor, it's the equivalent of 800,000 persons.

WE SAY "equivalent" because the estimate is based on total volunteer workers contributed during a typical work night in early November. While the survey is current and is the first national study of volunteer work in areas involving the welfare of Americans, it is organized in 1965.

No matter the trend indicated is what is true. Most are volunteers who automatically mount some helpful middle-class middle-aged boomers.

The trend shows that more young people, old people, more group members and other low-income persons make up the surge to the ranks of volunteer workers. And most of the men who volunteer are businessmen and other workers with full-time jobs.

THIS HAS become increasingly true. If you just note the roster of numerous suburban clubs who have recently named a group to getting pledges from the area firms to hire the chronically unemployed. The Chicago-based firm of the business, called CAR, obtained the first place of these men from their companies to add in the past 1000 pledges for hard-core disadvantaged people needing jobs.

These men are indicative of the high-caliber of today's volunteer workers, who have been called on by President Nixon to search out new ways and means to meet some of the nation's problems. HED Secretary George W. Romney back this stance.

adult life when demands on their time is greatest, with most of this group being over 40.

Almost two-thirds of all women volunteer workers were not in the "labor force," as such, and the majority of volunteers consisted of parents of school-age children.

While it is pointed to help the last segment may have been in some degree prompted to help because of their own children's needs, it is evident that the more schooling and income a person had, the more likely he was to engage in volunteer services.

Clothes Horse Boutique Offers Originals

By Frances Adams

If you will not be browsing off to Shanghai, La this season, you can still capture that old atmosphere by browsing the Clothes Horse Boutique. Just two steps off the main lobby in the Arlington Park Towers Hotel, the new boutique offers a Cincinnati parade of original designs. The labels are all discreetly tucked deep down inside the yummy costumes, let me assure you that they read: Ade Simpson, Christine Dior, John Moore, Abe Scherzer and "color intentionally knits back costume runner. Summer knits and ribbon knit suits by Cita and Sarmi (who designs for Barbra Streisand) are available in a wide range of styles straight from the Paris showings. We can say now that suburbanites have available the latest fashions from the Continent, but we still seem to lack the daring to wear many of them except when we are away from home. One of the newest fashion sensations, Mr. Dino, is featured at the Clothes Horse. Perhaps because he has them how many people drive I wish. I particularly favored his designs.

Coke in Mr. Dino's keynote combined with a special silk-screening process for producing more vivid shades on fabric. In many instances he has used seven different colors in one garment. For his summer collection Mr. Dino selected boules for his prints. The fabric lends itself well to casual living and is wrinkle-resistant and fluid so that the bright prints flow with the line of the garment. It has been said that if Pucci is the Cadillac of the fashion prize world, then Mr. Dino is the Ford. And no one needs Mr. Dino to tell them how many people drive I wish.

Mr. Dino's autograph each garment, has managed to produce color prints for the medium-price market. With the cooperation of the Clothes Horse Boutique, he has brought his "Bibamus Holiday" collection to this area.

The most delightful discovery at the Clothes Horse, however, was the girls who work there. Jan Milke, the manager, Ann Nieland and Mrs. Leonard Labouze. They would love to have you drop by and share their pink foil and marble surroundings and enjoy the world's finest designer fashions.

Stanton of Mount Prospect was bridesmaid. Following the tropical theme, both girls wore identical mauve suits in a muted yellow print. They carried double yellow plumaria leis and wore matching headpieces.

THE BRIDE's mother wore a floral print gown in shades of pink and yellow. Cpl. Flynn was attended by her maid of honor, Mrs. Samuel Linton and others Tony L. Davis and Harry H. Meritt III. All three are with the First Marine Brigade at Kanchoe Bay.

Following the ceremony, a reception dinner was given at the Tahitian Lanes of the Waikiki Shores for a week. The couple honeymooned at the bride's parents when the newlyweds are in Mount Prospect the end of July.

Hawaii Wedding

A romance that began in beautiful Hawaii culminated in marriage with the wedding ceremony in Trinity Chapel, Kanchoe Bay in Honolulu, on May 31.

Linda Rae Darcy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Darcy, of Arlington Heights, became the bride of Robert L. Flynn, corporal in the U.S. Marine, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Flynn of Alhambra, Ga.

THE NEW Mrs. Flynn is a 1964 graduate of Prospect High School, attended Wisconsin State University in Oshkosh, and is employed by United Air Lines.

Message To Boy Scouts

In his message to the 35,000 campers of the 7th National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America at Farragut State Park, Idaho, July 16 to 22, President Richard Nixon hailed the theme "Building to Serve."

A copy of President Nixon's message was released yesterday by Robert M. Sasser, 800 S. Aldine, Park Ridge, president of the Northwest Suburban Council which is represented at the Jamboree by 40 Scouts. Executives, youth adult leaders.

"NO FENCE or more representative theme could have been chosen for the Seventh National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America than your theme, 'Building to Serve.' The Boy Scouts of America have long been builders of character, builders of character, builders of character. It is a tribute to your wonderful organization and to all those concerned with that service—service to the youth, to the community, to the country has been the goal of all our efforts."

Pat Day Collects Postcards

By Mary Brewer

Thirteen-year-old Pat Day of 1513 Roschill, Arlington Heights, is one of the growing group of delinquents in this area. Sound impressive? Well, it should. Delinquents are dedicated and enthusiastic postcard collectors, searching out and collecting postcards as though they were going out of style.

Delinquents take their name from the Greek word, "delphin," meaning small card. The penny postcard that was printed by various publishing houses at the turn of the century are popular collectibles.

Collecting postcards and making albums to keep them in was a craze even 50 years ago, so there are numerous albums left to lure the dedicated collector today.

POSTCARDS were produced in tremendous volume and in different types such as greeting cards, comics, view-cards, exhibitions, art types, advertising and novelties. Most collectors specialize in collecting famous people; places like main streets of towns, bridges, trains or churches. It is still possible to build a very fine and interesting collection of just one type.

Since most postcard collectors are eventually forced to specialize because of the wide variety, Pat has found her interest is in the St. Patrick day cards. She has a large number of unusual types. She is also very proud of her presidential cards, especially the one depicting Abraham Lincoln. She also has many cards made from unusual materials, such as wood and leather, postmarked and sent through the mail about 1906.

Both of Pat's parents are avid antique collectors and have encouraged her in her hobby. Since most of the cards cost about 15 to 25 cents and the rare or scarce ones about $1 she has been able to add to her collection from her own money.

PAT SUGGESTS looking for old cards in the most unlikely spots, in old trunks in the attic, sewing boxes or tucked away in old books or book-markers. Collectors are always looking for early World's Fair cards or cards showing automobiles, early train wrecks and disasters, such as floods, fires or hurricanes and, of course, early airplanes.

Although Pat has not found a local friend who shares her interest in collecting cards, she has received help and information by belonging to the Windy City Post Card Club which sends out bulletins, magazines and general information to anyone interested.

The next time you receive a postcard in the mail, remember the adage, "one man's trash is another's treasure." Someday you may have a delinquent in your house. It could be a lot of fun!

Fun cards which were mailed at the turn of the century add interest and a note of humor to Pat's collection.

Presidential post cards make up one special section of Pat Day's collection. They are dated from Washington's time through World War I.

Post cards were sent on nearly every occasion. St. Patrick's Day, Valentine's Day, New Year and Christmas. This exhibit focuses on St. Patrick's Day and Valentine's Day and is shown in a special table case.

Vending Industry Needs Mechanics

prospective repairmen to demonstrate mechanical ability either through their work experience or by scoring well on mechanical aptitude tests. Ability to deal tactfully with people is another important characteristic that employers look for when considering applicants. A commercial driver's license and a good driving record are essential for most vending machine repair jobs.

Holiday Proclamation Surprises Officials Here

President Richard Nixon's proclamation yesterday of a national day of participation Monday caught officials here by surprise.

Most federal agencies except those essential for national security and public service will be excused from their jobs to watch the observance of the landing of U.S. astronauts on the moon.

Nixon urged state and municipal authorities and private industry as well to give their employees the day off.

John Walsh, Arlington Heights Village president and L.A. Hanson, village manager, were unavailable for comment on whether village officials would close Monday or if scheduled meetings would be held.

Tom Thomson, Park District director, said all recreational facilities and offices would be open in village parks Monday. He said he learned of Nixon's proclamation when some employees called to ask if they would have the day off.

School District 25 officials were unavailable for comment on whether any summer programs were scheduled for Monday or whether they would be canceled for the moon landing observance.

High School District 214 administrators plan to meet today to discuss whether school officials will be closed and summer school classes dismissed Monday. They will announce their decision today or tomorrow, said District 214 Supt. Edward Gilbert.

Chicago College officials plan to meet today to discuss the matter.

William Sandberg, regional postal director, said in Chicago yesterday he will confer with officials in Washington this afternoon to discuss the matter. He said he is on a holiday schedule Monday, but will deliver mail with only one pickup at collection boxes.

Power Line Electrocutes Worker

By Gary Stiffman

A Fox Lake man was electrocuted yesterday afternoon while working on power lines in the 800 block of N. Rand Rd., Arlington Heights.

Lawrence D. Drake, 37, "was instantly killed when his body came in contact with the line," said Capt. John Hays, director of the Arlington Heights Fire Department.

Drake and another lineman, Daniel Etkon, were working near the top of a 30-foot Comstock Edison Co. pole when the mishap occurred. Drake was pronounced dead at Northwestern Community Hospital.

Etkon said Drake was moving a 2,400-volt line to a different position on the pole when he was electrocuted.

Three other workers were standing on the ground near the pole, but neither they nor Etkon touched the line. One of the linemen called for help on a two-way radio in one of their trucks.

Mike Mayfield, an Illinois Bell Telephone Co. employee, said, "There appeared to be a small flash that caught my attention. I looked up and saw him falling. I saw him being struck by the line and saw him being struck by the line."

Jim's Electric service station, 815 N. Rand, 200 feet from the accident site, was not damaged.

THE OTHER linemen promptly strung a rope and lowered Drake, who was hanging by his safety harness. "He showed no signs of life when we arrived," said fireman Steve Hagg, who was unscathed in his mouth-to-mouth resuscitation attempts at the scene and on route to the hospital in a Lakeshore & Oshkosh ambulance.

The linemen are employed by the Arlington Electric Co. of Lake Forest, which had contracted with Edison Co. to put up new utility poles in the area.

Another five-man Aldridge crew was working about a mile away at Rand and Arlington Heights Rd. The crew's gathered their equipment and left the work early after the mishap.

"It's a strange feeling that goes through each man at a site like this," said Everett Fox, line superintendent for the Aldridge Co. "Each man knows it could have just as easily been him. It's a strange type of feeling for any linemen."

Drake had been employed by the Aldridge Co. for about three months, Fox said. He said the crew was moving the lines to new positions on the poles so they would not interfere with the placement of the new poles. The project was under way for about a week, he said.

The Aldridge Co., said Fox, has done contract work for the Edison Co. for about five years.

Drake's body was taken to the Cook County Morgue. The coroner's office ordered an inquest, though the date has not yet been set.

Drake's wife, Patricia, and three children live in Greeley, Colo. A sister lives in Chicago. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Finance Director Named

Kenneth M. Bondy of Dayton, Ohio, has been named to the post of village finance director. Bondy now is management budget analyst for the City of Dayton, Ohio.

Bondy, 25, is a graduate of the University of Dayton, where he earned both a bachelor's and a master's degree in public administration. He has been with Dayton's budget department for three years.

He and his wife, Doris, are natives of the Chicago area. Bondy's parents live in Elmwood Park.

"We're quite pleased that we're coming up there," Bondy said to The Day yesterday. "My wife and I are both former residents of Illinois and are familiar with the state and the area."

Bondy said he and his wife will look for an apartment in the village and intend to buy a home here eventually.

"We hope to be moving to Arlington Heights by Sept. 1," he said.

Storm Knocks Out Power, Sets Off Prospect Siren

By Curt Wilson

Heavy rains that battered the Chicago area early today caused many electrical problems in the northwest suburbs, a spokesman for the Comstock Edison Co. said.

About 1,500 homes were without power for a short time after 5 a.m. in the northern parts of Des Plaines and the south end of Mount Prospect, the spokesman said.

He said the failure was due to a feeder line that had been "jacked" out by two lines that hit the 500 N. Line tracks at Sargeant Rd. in Des Plaines and cut off the power to the area.

A short power failure in central Mount Prospect set off the tornado warning siren, and the switchboard of the Mount Prospect police station was swamped with inquiries.

Twenty-five calls also were taken at the Arlington Heights police department from residents who heard the Mount Prospect siren.

Scattered homes in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect were without power for various periods, mostly because of lightning damage to the power lines, the spokesman said.

Commercial burglar alarms, many of which were powered by the area's power lines, failed in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines, according to police in the three towns.

Flooding, which plagued commuters on the Eisenhower Expressway and many other streets and highways elsewhere around Chicago, was minimal in the northwest suburbs.

The severest flooding was along the Golf Rd. Veterans' Expressway in Northbrook. Northwest Highway between Mount Prospect and Des Plaines was closed.

Water there was about 6 to 10 inches deep, and several cars stalled before making it through.

The report was under control even before firemen arrived. Damage to the garage was slight.

PAN AM HAS a similar moon observation ritual but goes one step farther and issues a flight card to its passengers. The flight card is issued by the airline's flight manager and is valid for the duration of the flight.

The moon observation ritual is a tradition at Pan Am. All night flight operations are suspended on the day of the moon observation. A Pan Am spokesman said that these figures are preliminary estimates of each moon flight reservation request.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 reservations are made for the moon flight each year. The flight is operated by Pan Am. The flight is operated by Pan Am. The flight is operated by Pan Am.

Planners Delay Vote On Shopping Center

The Arlington Heights Planning Commission last night voted to continue until next Wednesday a hearing on developer Les Romano's request for a rezoning for a shopping center on the southwest corner of Golf and Arlington Heights Rds.

Commissioners Alvin Harris, Victor Bessler and Richard Durava expressed concern over questions which they said were unanswered during the developer's presentation. Bessler said he does not oppose the shopping center, but would like time to think over the rezoning request.

Durava said of traffic problems near the Golf-Arlington Heights Rd. intersection: "The traffic in that area at the present time is abominable," he said. "I find it difficult to get to the Commission meetings at night because I can't get out of the subdivision in which I live."

Mrs. Harris and she is concerned over the future development near the future intersection. "It's not an inevitable consequence of a four-lane street that it be developed commercially," she said. "They you're defeating the purpose of the four-lane street anyway."

She said the village should not allow strip development in the area.

ROMANO, who had several times by his six associates, said he was trying to keep the area from becoming "jacked."

"This is a real strip center," he said, "this is a real high-grade mall."

When asked if he had speeded up what other properties he has in the area, Romano replied: "I'm probably the biggest investor of property in the south end of the village."

He said he also owns properties on Golf Rd. and said he controlled enough property to keep the area from becoming "jacked."

The office area is controlled by three trust companies at the Office National Bank, the name of Barbara Ann Romano, Romano's wife.

The proposed shopping center would have 100,000 square feet of rentable floor space and is scheduled to include a Kroger store, a Super X store,

Fishing Gear, Stereo Stolen

Arlington Heights police said yesterday that $318 worth of fishing equipment, stereo tapes, and auto equipment had been reported stolen from the car of William Romano, 28, of 2125 N. Rand Rd.

Moore said police that 28 Romano, a car, three fishing poles and a tackle box, and a spare tire and wheel had been taken from his car while it was parked in the lot of his apartment house.

Mrs. Harvey Bartholomew of 1125 Kennett, Arlington Heights, said police yesterday that a lawn mower had been stolen from her garage.

Mower Stolen

Mrs. Harvey Bartholomew of 1125 Kennett, Arlington Heights, said police yesterday that a lawn mower had been stolen from her garage.

Mrs. Bartholomew said the mower was a 1968 Ford 1000 cc. It was stolen from her garage on July 15.

Fire Damages Home

Heavy rains that pulled Arlington Heights early today flooded two lanes of Northwest Highway at Kenilworth, as well as cutting off electricity in scattered homes and flooding basements. (Photo by Curt Wilson)

A move fire in the home of Lowell J. Plant, 315 N. Belmont Arlington Heights, yesterday spread through the kitchen and caused an estimated $2,500 damage to the two-story frame house.

Nick Brown, 13, of 1001 N. Belmont, saw the fire starting as he was on his way home from the swimming pool at Recreation Park. He rushed to help.

The youth attempted to bring the blaze under control from the basement. A neighbor reported the fire to firemen.

Mr. Plant had the highest praise for the Arlington Heights firemen who, he said, removed her valuable crystal from her kitchen without any damage.

Arlington Heights firemen also were summoned yesterday to put out a fire in a garage at 1800 N. Waterman, the home of Paul Lipinski, where a can of chloroform for a swimming pool apparently had fallen and spilled on the garage floor.

Police said that a member of the family had tried to wipe up the chloroform with a rag that had oil on it and the chemical reaction of the chloroform and oil started the small blaze.

The fire reportedly was under control even before firemen arrived. Damage to the garage was slight.

Prospect Heights Swimmers Sink Deeper in 4th Loss

By Tom Harrison

For the fourth consecutive week, the Prospect Heights swim team fell after swimming valiantly against the tough competition.

This time, the tankards were defeated by a score of 139-176 by Barrington at the Barrington pool.

IN THE DIVING. Prospect Heights did not do as well as expected, due to the absence of two of their squad, Don Cullmore and Nancy Kowalski. Nevertheless, Brian Cavas scored first for PH in the boys 14 and under diving.

He was followed by the girls 14 and under, Sue Weller, who took a third, Bill Fergan duplicated her first with another third in the 15 and over mixed.

Barrington started out well in the swimming events, as Prospect Heights had no entry relay. There was, however, an exhibition relay from PH composed of Bill Fergan, Tom Harrison, Dave Takata and coach Jay Magnuson, which actually finished ahead of Barrington's swimmers, but could not be counted because the coach swam.

Barrington then succeeded in taking the rest three events, partly because of a lack of swimmers on the PH team.

swimmer in the 15 and over 100 ftm.

Dave's sister, Christine Takata, displaced her brother's efforts, placing second in the 8 and under division of the 25 yard free. In the boys half of the event, Dan Jump and Scott Andrews placed in second and third for Prospect Heights, while the girls 14 and under, Christine Takata and Mary Geisler, took both place second events, the 9 and 10 girls and boys 20-yard crawl.

CHRISTINE TAKATA then placed "in the money" for PH, with a bright blue ribbon in the 8 and under girls 25-yard breaststroke, being the only one for PH to qualify in the event.

John Eliot also did well in his side of the event, as he took a second. He was followed closely by his teammate Scott Andrews.

Kim Painter, Mary Geisler, Mary Kay Redwine, Cary Takata, Janice Takata, Cathy Rodgers, Maryellen Geisler, Dan Jump, Christine Takata and Scott Madison all were beaten out by Barrington swimmers, but a blue ribbon was not motivated by Prospect again until John Eliot pulled one out of the 8 and under boys 25 backstroke. He, combined with Scott Andrews, performed a sweep, as Andrews finished close behind.

AFTER HER second in the breaststroke, Pam Klein placed second in the girls 9 and 10 backstroke.

The brothers Bill and Bob Campbell then finished well for PH in the 11 and 12 girls 100 and 200 yard freestyle, again because of a lack of team members.

Starting off the backstroke, in again did not look too promising for the PH squad, as Audrey Andrews placed third in the 11 and 12 girls division. Cary Takata and Scott Madison then got together to prove this by finishing first and second in the boys 11 and 12 50-yard backstroke.

PH again almost followed her brother's first but second out and had to settle for a second.

IN THE 13 and 14 age division for the boys, Ken Bergman finished third. Things almost began to brighten up when Maryellen Geisler took first in the girls 15 and over backstroke and followed closely in second place by Lynn Richards. In the boys half of the event, Dave Takata came up with his third second of the night, as he finished just behind the Barrington swimmer in the 100 yard backstroke.

In the 11 and 12 girls breaststroke, PH kept up a good pace as Maryellen Geisler finished in second place, and had enough swimmers to have an entry in the event. Barrington swimmers then beat out Lynn Richards as she finished in the girls 15 and over freestyle. Prospect Heights provided enough swimmers for only one of them. Of the girls, 13 and 14 200-yard freestyle relay, composed of Janice Takata, Donna Frazier, Cathy Rodgers and Carol Geisler.

The 15 and over boys 100-yard breaststroke found a change as Tom Harrison grabbed the blue ribbon and was followed by two Barrington swimmers. That brought the individual competition to a close, and of the six remaining relays, Prospect Heights provided enough swimmers for only one of them. Of the girls, 13 and 14 200-yard freestyle relay, composed of Janice Takata, Donna Frazier, Cathy Rodgers and Carol Geisler.

Barrington Lefty Baffles Huskie Hitters, 8-4

By Bill Copeland

Despite a two-run homer by Rick Kordella, Harney fell 8-4, last night in Barrington in a Summer League game.

The Huskies had trouble hitting Barrington's left-handed pitcher, Mike Duhaime. Duhaime had good stuff, but the ball as he made Harney pop out 11 times during the game. Duhaime gave up six hits to the Huskies and struck out six.

BARRINGTON TOOK a quick 1-0 lead in the top of the first. Greg Prosser got their lead off hitter, Domingo Blas, on a grounder to Kim Kennedy at second, but Steve Clawson, the next batter, was safe at first on an error by Fletcher at third.

Clawson stole two bases on the Huskies and Prosser got up his first walk to Clady Jarrod. Barrington's left fielder, With Clawson on third, Jarrod tried to steal second and Morales took the throw which was too late for catcher Jim Quade and fired home to try to get Clawson. The throw was off target, but he scored Barrington's first run.

Jarrod then stole another base and came home on a wild pitch to make the score 2-0. Bob Mackey, hitting in the cleanup position, walked and made it to second on another wild pitch. Bill Hocke then drove in Mackey for the third run on a single to right off target, but he scored slow start as they only had two basemen in the first three innings. In the first inning, Bill Ludwigson got on in first and second. On the next play, Fletcher took a grounder from Kim Halston and stayed on third to force out Wyborny, then threw to first but the throw was too late.

A SINGLE BY Jay Mata I o d d d the bases for Barrington with two outs. Both of Barrington's runs then scored on wild pitches.

Barrington scored two more runs in the last inning to make the score 8-2. Hocke walked and Tom Dismas got on on a fielder's choice to provide the base runners. Wayne Bauer, pinch-hitting for Halston, drove them both home with a single to right.

The Huskies could only get the scoring and tying run in the last of the seventh. Quade began with a walk and Steve Koch popped out to Mackey at second for the first out. Duhaime, only two outs away from the victory, relaxed away from the mound as the way home with a triple. Kennedy came through with the other three hits, but the batter on a grounder to Fletcher at third, but

Grens Blanked by Blazers, 5-0

By Jim O'Donnell

The Addison Trail Blazers, behind the mound and in the work of Bob Landrum, defeated the buskies 5-0, Wednesday night at Elk Grove.

Landrum earned the decision on the hill, pitching the whole game and striking out six in the process. He walked two and gave up only four hits. At the plate, he had a perfect day, going three-for-three including a double. The cocky right hander also produced two runs.

LENDING A HAND offensively for the Blazers was Terry Jolly. He rapped out a pair of safeties and also was a two-bagger.

Striking out for the Greens was shortstop Dave Rasmussen. Besides playing excellent ball in the field, he also pitched two singles, half of the team total.

The losing pitcher was righty Bob Chen, who started the contest for Elk Grove, worked four innings before yielding to Scott Pruitt. Pruitt completed the game, hurling three frames.

NEITHER CLUB could get their cleanup hitter to the plate in the first inning. Chen Rasmussen had the frame's only safety, a single, but was thrown out trying to steal second.

The Blazers threatened in the second on Bob Kerk's double and a walk to Landrum, but a pop out ended the threat.

Seeking Congressional Seat

Candidates Outline Platforms

By Richard Cobble

The 13th congressional race entered a new and critical stage Thursday evening when all 10 Republicans seriously campaigning for the special Oct. 7 GOP primary appeared at the candidates' night in Palestine.

Sponsored by the Palestine Township Republican Organization, the event was the first confrontation at the crucial western end of the 13th District. Many of the candidates for the U.S. Congress were seen for the first time. Richard M. Nixon, believe that the election will be won in the northwest suburbs where there resides only one in the large field.

The degree to which the congressional race is heating up was dramatized last evening by the speech of Brian Duff of Wisconsin who had unexpected withdrawal from the contest earlier in the day. Consider one of the major candidates until he failed to get the endorsement of his own New Tri-Township, Duff bowed out of the big race at a noon press conference. Duff threw his personal endorsement to Rep. Alan Johnston of Kenilworth.

PALATINE TOWNSHIP is expected to be the third in the 13th District to endorse a candidate. Republican Committee member Walter Schae has called a meeting of GOP leaders for July 22 to make an endorsement.

Only one township has endorsed New Tri-Township has endorsed Rep. Alan Johnston of Kenilworth. Northfield Township has had a candidate sight and will announce its endorsement early next week. The next candidate night will be held July 23 in Arlington Heights by Wheeling Township Republicans.

Every candidate included in one way or another to the importance of the western section of the district in the selection of Republican's successor Joseph Mathewson of Winnetka, the first candidate to oppose in Palestine, began his request by announcing that next week he would open his western district headquarters in Arlington Heights, the largest village in the west section.

Candidate John J. Vinograd of Skokie recognized the importance of the northwest suburbs, saying "You will in 1972 have your own congressman after the redistricting following the 1970 census."

Rep. Eugene F. Schickman of Arlington Heights, only candidate who resides in the western section of the 13th District, said "We have west of the Tri-State (valley) have grown not only in population but in political maturity. We are capable of providing leadership." Further emphasizing the importance of the western section of the district, Schickman stated that his election to Congress he would continue to maintain his residence in the 13th District in

Teacher Dies

Miss June Ellington, 46, a social science teacher at Arlington High School, died yesterday of a heart ailment.

She had been hospitalized for the past week, when the illness took a severe turn.

Miss Ellington, a resident of Algonquin, Ill., had been teaching at Arlington High School for the past five and a half years.

SHE WAS active in the Future Teachers Club and was a member of the Trips 5 Club, a service, spirit and sportsmanship organization for girls.

She graduated from North Park College, Chicago, and received her master's degree at the University of Chicago. She had completed education courses at Northwestern University. Mrs. Ellington was a member of the National Education Association.

Survivors include her mother and sister, also of Algonquin.

SERVICES will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at the Walter-Rose-Alton Funeral Home in Algonquin. Fellow teachers at Arlington High School will serve as pallbearers at the funeral.

Principal Bruce Warrs said school personnel "were completely shocked to hear of June Ellington's passing. She will be dearly missed by the students and staff at Arlington."

95 Degrees, Moon Shot: A Kilowatt-eating Day

Wednesday's 95-degree heat turned on the air conditioners in the north suburbs and the moon shot burned on the TVs.

The result was an all-time record for electricity used on one day according to a spokesman for the northwest district of Commonwealth Edison which serves Palestine, De Wilmington, Arlington Heights, Evanston, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates.

The spokesman said that of Wednesday's demand for power, the transformer near a building single-family houses which, he said, are not yet

"I just don't think it's fair for the village to overload one area with apartments," he said.

BUILDERS ARE pushing apartments, he said, because high interest rates have made single-family homes unreasonably expensive.

Resigned Commissioner Urges Guidelines For Planning Here

By Bob Canny

Robert Riba, who decided to "take a step back and get going again," resigned from the Arlington Heights' Plan Commission this week.

Citing a desire to spend more time with his job and his family, Riba continued to voice concerns about the direction of village planning policy.

"The idea is pretty well cast as far as the size and boundaries of Arlington Heights goes," he said. "Now they have to be more selective in the areas they're developing."

"The village should hire a planning consultant now to help fill in the square," he said.

ILLINOIS EMPLOYERS' WITHHOLDING TAX GUIDE

By Judy Rindler

"Information booklet to assist employers in meeting Illinois Income Tax requirements were mailed Tuesday by the Illinois Department of Revenue but the published Bensenville address to which remittances must be mailed is incorrect in the booklet, according to the department."

The department had suggested locating the income tax processing center in Bensenville, so the information booklet, the "Convention Assistance Bulletin," listed that as the remittance address. Later, the General Assembly decided to locate the office in Springfield.

Firms asking for permission to withhold taxes from employees and for making remittances are to be sent to Springfield. The information booklets containing the incorrect address have already been sent to employers. The correct Springfield address will be printed on envelopes for the use of employers sending in forms and remittances. Employers are urged to use only the address that appears on the envelopes.

A spokesman for the Bensenville post office said any remittances sent to Bensenville will be forwarded to the Illinois State Building in Chicago. They will then be sent to the proper address in Springfield.

"We have orders to forward all mail to the Chicago office," he said. "But there will be a considerable delay."

George E. Mahin, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue, said he hopes employers will wait for the envelopes to be sent to them so the delay can be avoided.

Dr. Donald Strong, District 25 superintendent, said the district's administrative and educational personnel would have Monday off.

THOMAS THORNTON, director of parks and recreation, was not out of the Park District, said all park district facilities will be open as usual on Monday.

And, for those who think the moon landing is too much of a sure thing, Arlington Park Trust Inc. will have a moon walk on Monday, according to a track spokesman.

Here at home it means nothing less than the rejection of Marxist terminology and violent tactics now so fascinating to some black radicals. It also means a 24-hour watch on those whites who are itching to crank up the hate machines and then wire us in to a police state.

For Christians, the basics are very, very timely.

A two-week vacation Bible school will be held at the Little Church of Martha's Vineyard, 606 W. Golf Rd., Mount Prospect, beginning Monday, August 4.

Classes will be held daily from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the church and are designed for children ages 3 to 12. Crafts, devotions and music will be included. All children of the community who will enter kindergarten this fall through those who have completed seventh grade are eligible.

REGISTRATIONS are still being accepted and may be taken to the church (219-2568) or the school Director, Mrs. Ronald Krause (978-0568). There is no registration fee. Daily free-lunch offerings are a part of the daily worship period.

If you think there are spots in front of your eyes, you're right. For wallpaper that acts it so you visually, and will keep you awake, try this latest wallpaper, pre-pasted, vinyl-coated wallpaper called NEON. A Chicago-based company which offers the pattern in its new PDC collection. You have a color choice of flaming fluorescent pink, orange and gold on white or dark blue, light blue and green on blue, green, or finally, gold, silver and black on white. Wall-covering dealers are carrying the unique line have many other designs in the PDC collection and stress the way NEON reflects light, both physically and emotionally, into a room, without overdoing the "neon" look.

Sock-It-To-Me Paper

It's not a Picasso, but the new DELPHOS design offered in the latest PDC collection of vinyl-coated, wipeable, pre-pasted wall-coverings made available by United-Industries, Chicago-based wallpaper firm, to northwest suburban wallpapering dealers. The unusual color schemes are obtainable in three styles: white, beige,

Kids Are Welcome At Apple Canyon

A new Hospitality Center will soon be open at Apple Canyon Lake, the new private recreation homestead development now under construction by The Brainerd Organization, Inc. Maynard O. Heaton, vice president of the developing company, said the center will cater to entire families of interested visitors.

The Hospitality Center is designed to make visits to Apple Canyon Lake a pleasant and enjoyable experience for the entire family," Heaton said. "The installation will have brightly colored walls where visitors will see films of other Brainerd developments to acquaint them with the quality and attention to detail which characterize all of our projects. There will also be a Kiddie Zoo, a playground and backboard rides which will provide entertainment for the children. A snack bar will make soft drinks and sandwiches available so no one need be thirsty or hungry," Heaton said.

"WE EXPECT many families to visit us, since the lake is only a two-hour drive from Chicago. We believe that the Hospitality Center will give every visitor a taste of what recreational living will be like at Apple Canyon Lake," Heaton said. "Kids often get bored and restless when there is nothing for them to do, and so we are going to let them have plenty of exciting things to see and do while their parents are inspecting the homestead. The Kiddie Zoo will have small animals to attract their attention and the playground will let them romp to their hearts' content. Of course, the Backboard Rides will be a big attraction for children and even adults who seldom see backboard vehicles," he said.

The Hospitality Center will be open every day from 10 a.m. until dark.

Property Transfers Up So Far in 1969

Cook County real estate transfers increased 8.7 per cent in the first six months of 1969, but mortgages and mortgages were slightly lower, according to County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen.

Madison took down there were 36,753 transfers filed, compared with 33,795 in the same period of 1968, a difference of 2,958.

Restrictive lending policies and a shortage of loanable funds from the usual source of mortgages contributed to the slower activity in mortgage filing. This number was down 3 per cent from 41,805.

OLSEN RECORDED 16 real estate transfers in Wheeling Township last week. Price indicated by $1 for each $1,000 market valuation. Those in Arlington Heights were: 721 S. Chestnut, William E. Plume to Elmer E. Schmidt, $32,500; 1145 N.

Those in Mount Prospect were: 1405 Barbary, Donald A. Simonson to Paul W. Winick, $40; 1629 Cedar Ln., Albridge Construction Co., Inc. to Floyd E. Beaton, $50, and 1101 Crabtree Ln., Earl G. Wilquet to Jean L. Kloster, $43.

False Named To National Unit Of Travel Agents

Floyd T. Fulle, a suburban Cook County commissioner, has been named one of two Midwest representatives on an eight-member national legislative committee being formed by the American Society of Travel Agents.

Fulle, 666 Laurel, Des Plaines, and Maine Township Republican commissioner, owns the Des Plaines Travel Agency, 1225 Elmwood.

Another time she wrote: "The meals here are wonderful. Today we had burned Spaghetti. The most recent letter said: 'I have joined the boxing club. This morning I had my first fight. I don't think I'll need braces for my teeth anymore.'

Coventry East 2-story Model To Meet Need

A spacious two-story home has been introduced at Coventry East at Crystal Lake. The planned community, being developed by Ladd Enterprises Inc., has featured mainly ranch style and split-level models since its inception in 1966.

With four rooms on the first floor and four or five bedrooms on the second, the model is expected to sell for $37,000, including a large lot and improvements.

LADD'S DECISION to introduce a two-story model is a reflection of the growing demand for this type of housing in the Chicago-suburban area, according to Roger Ladd, president of the firm. "Many people today desire not only more space for their larger families, but also a more formal atmosphere for entertaining," he said. "The complete separation of living and sleeping areas offered by the two-story gives them this advantage."

The new home has a large two-car garage attached. The second floor centerpieces to provide cover across the entire front of the home, adding an aura of elegance to the entry. Three exterior styles are offered, colonial and designs reflecting French and traditional influences.

The first floor features a handsome foyer opening onto a sunken living room twenty feet in length. Other features of the first floor are a kitchen, separate dining room, U-shaped garden kitchen, master family room with optional fireplace, a half-bath and a laundry room. At basement under the family room is an optional feature.

KITCHEN CONVENIENCES include a special storage area for pantry items, a snack bar serving the adjacent family room, and a pass through to the garden area. The family room, built-in sliding door access to the patio, is at the rear.

A stairway from the foyer leads to the second story where optional four and five-bedroom plans are available. In the four-bedroom plan, the master bedroom is 21 feet 10 inches with a sitting area and a walk-in closet and a large walk-in closet and complete bath. Another full bath serves the remaining bedrooms, its doorway cluttered with those of the bedrooms for convenience. All bedrooms have large closets for ample storage.

An attic hideaway, where there's quiet, comfort and "a way out" from daily chores, is within the reach of any couple, young or old, or even a baby.

It's an ideal location. Starting from scratch, the couple can build a mead according to their interests, planning, decorating and furnishing it with just the "flavor" they like. Usually there is ample space, and the value is a great for innovations in construction and decor.

In the important planning phase, the couple will want to consider early-care plans that suit their model-of-living ideas. For instance, for the informal, casual living that's so prevalent today, a suitable material for covering rafters and studs is a textured adobe-style Manoleite R-X-50. More formal decor, if that's your style, may be enhanced with a wood-grained Royalco interior paneling ranging from light to dark.

Relatively inexpensive, highly durable and practical with its rough sawn look, the panel style siding can be painted any color. It looks great between the rafters and on the walls, and maintenance is a minor problem of an occasional wipe-down or dusting with a vacuum cleaner attachment.

A couple interested in hobbies can include areas for displays of their collections or creation to an informal living attic room. If they're interested in handicrafts or creative arts, they can provide necessary cabinets and worktable area. Materials recommended for their construction are:

FRAMING: Two by four studs in conventional community near every place, usually found in pine, spruce, fir, Douglas fir, or western red cedar. The material is available in 10-foot, 12-foot, and in time for installation and maintenance. Old but comfortable furniture can be refinished and resale shops will yield many items of decor and convenience that will make this room a real pleasure.

A free, color-illustrated folder, "Something the Room," is available to the hobbyist for additional ideas. Send a postcard to Magazine, Box 8, Chicago, Ill., requesting the folder.

Apt. Dwellers Dream They're Landed Gentry mile east of St. 53 just north of the Northern Boulevard.

Covering approximately 25 acres, the buildings are irregularly positioned along curving, fully finished avenues. The terrain is gently rolling, and the landscaped grounds present broad expanses of green lawns, scattered here and there by stands of mature shade trees.

Located at Three Fountains east at $200 per month for the one-bedroom suites and $255 per month for the two-bedroom room suites. All of these Schol-designed apartment homes come complete and modern. They include heating and air conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, individual storage and parking facilities. Indoor parking is also available, with electronic units carried in residents' cars to occupy the garage doors.

Exterior lines of the individual three Fountains buildings incorporate a modern and functional use of well-balanced brick and stone in the exterior.

On each suite, regardless of size or layout, has a large, fully usable balcony or patio just outside the living room. This provides an inviting extension of the living room for family relaxation or entertaining.

Interior styling for each building—containing from 40 to 50 suites of one and two bedrooms—has been attractively planned. One building may recall the Italian Renaissance period, another the best of French Provincial design and the next the Southern Colonial concept.

Interior layouts for the individual suites also vary, always within the well-known Schol design concept of luxury design. Baths in each apartment vary from one to two, and kitchen—whether of simple walk-in or larger layout—feature a full range of color-matched appliances.

Remodeling? Remember Summer Can't Last

Sooner or later every homeowner has his moment of truth. He realizes that his house is no longer large enough for his family. He faces a decision: move or remodel.

For many people the current prices for new homes, coupled with the highest mortgage interest rates in years, make modernization of their present house an attractive alternative. Adding a new room, finishing the attic or basement, enlarging the kitchen—all of these projects will give an older home a new lease on life and increase its value to offset the investment.
